The special grand jury called to investigate the lynching of Carl Etherington in this city on the night of Friday, July 8, and which has been in session since Monday, July 18, made its final report Thursday morning, finding 58 true bills, 25 for murder in the first degree, 21 for rioting, 10 for assault and battery and 2 for perjury. The grand jury made a partial report Wednesday morning, August 10, returning 39 indictments, 15 for murder in the first degree, 4 for rioting, and 2 for assault and battery having been made public at that time. The grand jury's report Thursday bitterly censures the officials in charge on the night of the trouble. Its report is very complete and covers the entire investigation. Upon the completion of their work the grand jury tendered a vote of thanks to Prosecutor Phil B. Smythe and Assistant Attorney General Wm. H. Miller for the thorough manner in which they had conducted the investigation.

The prisoners will be arraigned Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, at which time they may plead and counsel will be appointed to defend them. Following is the grand jury's complete report:

To the Hon. Chas. W. Seward, Judge and the chief of police of the city, of the Court of Common Pleas, Licking County, Ohio:

The Grand Jury of the Court of Common Pleas of said County of the April Term, A. D. 1910, hereby report to the Court that they have concluded their work in the investigation of the riot and lynching which occurred in the City of Newark, Licking County, Ohio, on the 8th day of July, 1910.

Our investigation discloses that the outbreak of lawlessness which occurred upon the date is directly attributable to the total and absolute failure on the part of officers, who are sworn to preserve peace and order, to perform their official duty.

It is disclosed that the sheriff of the county failed to exercise the power and authority vested in him, as such sheriff, in quelling the riot, or in dispersing the mob.

That a lawless mob ran riot throughout the day on the public streets of this city, engaging in assaults upon citizens; all of which was done without hindrance or effort as hindrance upon the part of the sheriff of the county, or the mayor prevent the outrages committed, or to restore law and order. That after the Chief of Police had visited the county jail and saw the attacks that were being made thereon, by the mob, no orders or instructions were given by him to the eight or ten policemen, then present, to disperse the mob and prevent the attack upon the jail. But, on the contrary, in utter disregard of the duty and responsibility resting upon him as Chief of Police of the city, he left the jail yard and while the iron doors of the jail were being beaten down and while the man, Etherington, was being taken from the jail and hanged at the corner of the court house square, this man, wearing the uniform of Chief of Police, was then at a nearby grocery and saloon, in company with others, engaged in a social game of cards.

It is further disclosed, and we so declare, that it was within the power of the Sheriff of the county and the Mayor and the Chief of Police of the city, and that they had the means to have entirely prevented all outbreaks of lawlessness throughout the day, to have preserved the life of Carl Etherington and to have saved this city, county and state from the disgrace which resulted from the cowardly acts of a lawless mob.

We are constrained to say, in this respect, that while these officers, who, by reason of their absolute failure to perform their duty, are responsible for the lawlessness and rioting which occurred upon that night, yet this fact brings some censure to the citizens of Newark and Licking county. Citizens clothed with authority as electors should feel responsible for (Continued on page 2, col. 4.)

MOB LEADERS ARE INDICTED AT HUNTINGTON

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 1.—The special grand jury called to deal with the riot situation in Huntington convened yesterday afternoon and indictments were returned against three of the alleged leaders of the mob that stormed the county jail on Monday night. They are Vaughn Gilkerson, W. J. Mitchell and Chas. Turner. They are charged with inciting a riot.

The authorities will endeavor to deal out justice to offenders speedily. The grand jury is today in session, taking up the cases of many others arrested for inciting riot.

The troops are still on guard and there has been no further demonstration.

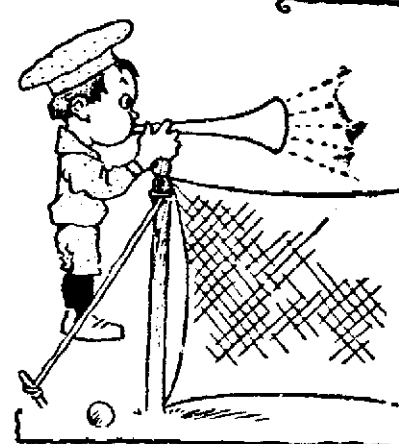

GROVER CLEVELAND'S ESTATE.

New York, Sept. 1.—A gross valuation of the estate of the late Grover Cleveland in New York will be filed with the surrogate today, showing $39,650, less taxes, commissions, etc. The residue is $32,378, the bulk of which goes to the widow and children. Rather than make public the full value of the estate here and elsewhere, the executors chose to pay 5 per cent on the collateral bequests and forego the reduction allowed when a full accounting is made.

CANDIDATE SUICIDED

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 1.—Frank T. Tucker, progressive candidate for attorney general, committed suicide today by jumping from a bridge into a river. He had been accused of grafting in using state envelopes for his campaign literature.

As the lid was placed tightly on the can an explosion resulted and the boiling water was thrown in the boy's face. The eyeballs were badly scalded.

Foreign corporations, $25,000; freight lines, $15,000; the Pullman Company, $10,478; telephone, telegraph and express companies are now being taxed by the commission, which is carefully getting at their true values. Some of the corporations have formally complained about the increases, and the commission will hear all complaints on Sept. 6.

ROOSEVELT HAILED AS THE LEADER

Kansas Insurgents Claim Him As Their Moses

SAYS HAD "BULLY" TIME

Great Ovation Tendered Ex-President in the Insurgent Strongholds.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—Hailed as the national leader of the progressive element of the Republican party by the insurgency or Kansas, Theodore Roosevelt today upset the routine of Kansas City. Accompanied by the leaders of Kansas insurgency, fresh from their victorious party council at Topeka and the Roosevelt triumph at Osawatomie, the Colonel came to Kansas hailed as the Moses that will lead the insurgent Republicans of the nation out of the land of bondage. Every Kansas insurgent is jubilant and declares that since he entered the state Roosevelt has espoused the cause of the progressives and has accepted the national leadership.

"I look upon yesterday as the most important political day I have ever seen," declared Senator Bristow today. "I went across the state with McKinley when he was a candidate for president and it was a great trip, but I cannot think of any day that was so much of a triumph as Roosevelt yesterday. The gathering that heard his speech at Osawatomie was the most remarkable gathering I have ever known in the state. Mr. Roosevelt's speech considering the circumstances which preceded and surrounded it will, in my judgment, make that address probably the most important speech he has ever made." Colonel Roosevelt did not any time deny the universally accepted belief throughout eastern Kansas that his Osawatomie speech lined him up squarely with the insurgent element of the party. His only comment on his stay in Kansas was: "Bully. Fine. The best time I ever had on the trip."

But the Kansas insurgents were not backward in declaring that Roosevelt was all for them, and that belief coupled with their victory in the primaries has made them jubilant. "Kansas had already in the primaries of August 2 been placed squarely in the column of progressive Republican states," declared Representative Madison today, "but the speech of Colonel Roosevelt and the things that will grow out of it positively confirms that position. No man in public life do the people regard so highly or follow more readily than Colonel Roosevelt and his unqualified endorsement of the principles for which the progressive Republicans have been contending has given renewed impetus to the cause."

William Allen White, Governor Stubbs and the other Kansas insurgents are equally enthusiastic. A dinner to Colonel Roosevelt given last night by Governor Stubbs at Lawrence was a great gathering of insurgents. Most of the insurgent candidates for congress, throughout the state, Bristow, Madison, White and a score of other prominent progressives were on hand. The affair was entirely private but it was remarked as a sort of feat of victory for the progressives.

A steady down pour of rain which began early this morning failed to dampen the ardor of the enthusiastic crowds which greeted the lion-hunter in the two Kansas Cities.

An assemblage of at least one half the population of Kansas City, Kansas, greeted Colonel Roosevelt when he arrived there a few minutes after (Continued on page 2, col. 4.)

STRIKING SKIRTMAKERS WERE ARRESTED WHILE PARADING

New York, Sept. 1.—"Lazarus had the right to eat the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table. I can't see why the rich should object to our eating our own crumbs at his rate. Here we are, all of us, swarty looking for work that will buy us those crumbs."

Three hundred bedraggled men and women, their faces pinched and drawn, showing by their every movement the strain under which they have been laboring for the last three weeks, tried to parade up fashionable Fifth avenue early today. When ordered to disperse by the police one of their leaders made the above reply. They were striking skirtmakers and their parade was intended as a protest to fashionable New Yorkers against their treatment by their former employers.

They did not get far. Members of the aristocratic Knickerbocker club and of the maidens along Fifth avenue, south of Thirty-second street, telephoned the police that they were "being disturbed."

Within a very short time the police of three precincts headed by Inspector McCluskey, once characterized by "Bill" Levey as "Chester George" converged upon the marchers. McCluskey threw a cordon across the thoroughfare and the head of the parade was halted.

"You'll have to get out of this," yelled McCluskey. "You have no permit to parade and there is complaining about your noise. I want you to disperse without trouble. If you do not there will be arrests."

In reply Samuel Rosenthal and Eben Levy, who were leading the parade, wanted to know why they should disperse and Rosenthal referred to the Lazarus episode. They were wildly cheered and the workers rendered his resignation, assigning started to walk on en masse. McCluskey's reason for his sudden action.

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS.

Newark 4, Lancaster 3.
Portsmouth 3, Lima 2.
Marion 3, Chillicothe 2, 10 innings.

Newark made a notch nearer that fourth place position yesterday when they took Hennie Pentz's Lancaster crowd into camp by the score of 4 to 3, and incidentally kept up that winning streak started some few days ago. It was one of those neck and neck affairs until final round and then O'Day's gang rallied nobly and put the kibosh on their opponents through clean hitting. Happy Harry Brown with his little war club was the lad that turned the trick.

The game introduced Charley Riehl to the Newark fans in a uniform other than our own, for since leaving the Molders Riehl hooked on to a job with the Lanks. He is performing at third now and doing very nicely, having trained down a good many pounds in weight. Bob Mallory, a local chap from the Fairfield county capital, also made his bow to a Wehrle Park crowd.

Mallory is a crippled lad with a fund of good nature and no nerves to speak of, for if he had any he didn't give any signs of it yesterday when the hits began raining off the local sticks. Twelve good hard raps, good for 15 cushions, were made off him and he also walked four men, but at that only four runs could be annexed by our boys. Braden did mound duty for the locals and he worried through eight innings in more or less safety, but in the ninth when he walked the first man he was hooked and Goshorn was sent in to finish the job of trimming, and he did it in a manner eminently pleasing.

Newark made a fast start in the first inning and two runs were scored. Nally was given a pass and on Anderson's sacrifice he went to second. Then Brown willowed for three pillow Nally crossed with ease. Then O'Day pulled off the old reliable squeeze and Brown loped home. Lobert was walked and stole second, but there the obsequies were said, for Shannon lofted to Blake.

The Lanks counted in the next frame when Thomas was walked. He stole second and scored when Curran made his first drive. Newark scored again in the third when O'Day reached first on Curran's wobble. Hank immediately stole second and on an error by Wise he went to

SCHRECK DRIVES IN THE WINNING RUN

Marion, Sept. 1.—Marion and Chillicothe battled for 10 innings yesterday. The Diggers took the contest 3 to 2. Ossie Schreck drove in the winning run with a single. The Babes tied in the sixth on hits by Whalen and Lake. Goulait succeeded Jack Bloomer in the tenth. Meehan's great base running was the feature. Score: R. H. E. Marion..... 3 5 4

EARLY STICK WORK WON THE GAME

Lima, Sept. 1.—Portsmouth scored a victory in the opening contest of the series by getting four runs in the first inning and adding two in the second. Moore was wild but effective in tight places, the heavy stick workers for Lima failing at the opportune times. Fixing's catch of a short drive was the feature of the season. Score: R. H. E. ROOSEVELT

At 10 o'clock, the Colonel had not been scheduled to stop at Kansas City, Kansas, but when the program at Lawrence was changed it was arranged for him to spend an hour on the Kansas side. In a drizzle of rain, Colonel Roosevelt addressed a mounted crowd in Huron Park.

Shortly after noon, the Colonel's special pulled across the Kaw river bridge at Lawrence, Kan. Mayor Brown had declared a half holiday and Roosevelt was met by a crowd even twice as large as that of the sister city. Members of the Commercial club and prominent citizens including Governor Hadley of Missouri and Mayor Brown greeted the Colonel at the depot and with 35 members of the third regiment, M. N. G. escorted him to the Baltimore hotel. A parade brought the main streets of the city had been arranged but because of the rain this was abandoned. Crowds warmed the streets along the route of Roosevelt's trip from the depot to the hotel.

Luncheon in the Colonel's honor was served at the Baltimore at which were three hundred guests. At the speakers' table were: Colonel Roosevelt, Clifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield, Senator Brewster, Governor Hadley, Governor Stubbs of Kansas, J. I. Howland, editor of the Outlook, Ernest H. Albott, Mayor Brown, W. S. Ashland, W. R. Nelson and J. G. W. Highland of Kansas City and William Allen White of Emporia, Kansas, the author of the Kansas progressive platform.

Colonel Roosevelt will be a guest of honor at a dinner at the Commercial club and a few personal friends at the Baltimore Hotel. They will escort him to the convention hall where at 8 o'clock tonight he makes a public address. Judge W. T. Blind will reside.

"Conservation as exemplified by the improvement and navigation of our inland water ways" is the theme upon which the former president will speak.

Immediately after the address he departs for Omaha at 10:40 o'clock. Pinchot goes to Chicago this afternoon and from there to Wisconsin, to aid Senator La Follette in his campaign. Garfield also intends going to the aid of the Wisconsin insurgents.

New York, Sept. 1.—In the Outlook of today appears a telegraph answer from Roosevelt to the attack on him by the Evening Post.

He quotes from the editorial at great length and says: "In the struggle for honest politics there is no more place for a liar than there is for a thief. In the movement designed to put an end to the domination of the thief but little good can be derived from the assistance of a liar."

He goes on to say that he will probably be criticised for using this language, but uses it because no other terms would correctly express the facts. He says whoever wrote the editorial for the Post practiced every known form of mendacity. Regarding Harriman Roosevelt says he visited the White House once, but anyone else and that he Roosevelt took no money from him for any purpose whatsoever. He says the statement in the Post could have been made only by a man who knew the facts and intentionally perverted them, and that "such an act stands on a level of infamy with the worst act ever performed by a corrupt member of a legislature and stamps the writer with the same moral brand that stamps the bribe-taker."

New York, Sept. 1.—Wall street views the western speeches of Roosevelt with emotion which ranges from disgust to anger. These feelings are generally suppressed as the big men are afraid to go on record, not knowing what may happen. A prominent brokerage house in a statement today calls Roosevelt "a destroyer who tears down by violent criticism, but offers no reasonable method of improvement."

A. Barton Hepburn, controller of the treasury under President Harrison, says: "I would not be surprised if Roosevelt discovered and endorsed the ten commandments before he gets through."

TEAMS MAY PLAY A POST SERIES

New York, Sept. 1.—Hope of a post-season series between the two New York ball teams was renewed today when it became known that Frank Farrell, owner of the American League team, had gone to Chicago to confer with John T. Brush, owner of the Giants. The two teams are in third place in their respective leagues, and post-season series between them would probably pay as well as a championship series.

GRAND JURY

The election of public officers. Had the citizens of Licking county elected a competent man to the office of Sheriff, this lynching would never have occurred. Had the electors of the City of Newark elected a competent man to the office of Mayor, the scenes of lawlessness in this city on the 8th day of July would never have been enacted. Had there been a competent man at the head of the police force, no acts of lawlessness and disorder would have been committed.

It is further disclosed in this investigation that the Sheriff, Mayor and Chief of Police did not favor law enforcement, and that they were under the control and domination of a lawless element from which the mob was composed that perpetrated those outrages against the law.

If the law is to remain supreme, it must be enforced.

Unfortunately, under the laws of this state, cowardice and incompetency are not crimes. Therefore, as against those officials no criminal indictments are returned and the recurrence of such conduct, on the part of public officials can only be prevented by the selection of honest, courageous and competent men to public offices.

The Grand Jury further reports that they have been in session 27 days; that they have examined over 500 witnesses, and herewith, by their Foreman, present to the Court the indictments found by said Grand Jury.

Twenty-five bills have been presented for murder in the first degree; twenty-one for riot; ten for

During our session we visited the county jail; examined its state and condition and inquired into the discipline and treatment of the prisoners and their habits, diet and accommodations.

We find and respectfully report to the Court that the rules prescribed by the judge have been faithfully kept and observed and we do not find that any provision of law for the regulation of county jails has been violated.

Respectfully submitted,
J. N. WRIGHT, Foreman.

Sept. 1, A. D. 1910.

And there being no further business for said Grand Jury, they are discharged finally.

A large number of the indictments returned by the grand jury were for riot. This offense is defined by the law to be, when three or more persons assemble together to do an unlawful act with force and violence, or being assembled, do an unlawful act, or agree with each other to do such unlawful act, and make any preparation or movement therefore they are guilty of riot and the maximum penalty is $500 fine or thirty days imprisonment in jail or both.

A number of the indictments were for assault and battery. The maximum penalty for this offense is $200 fine or six months in jail or both. Neither of these are penitentiary offenses.

The assignment already made of civil cases for the September term of the common pleas court extends through October, so that under present conditions none of these cases can be tried before the first day of November. It is likely that the first degree murder cases will be taken up first because this offense is not bailable under the constitution, except where the presumption of guilt is not great.

Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure Forty-nine Cases Out of Fifty.

Why anyone in Newark should continue to suffer with indigestion when a box of Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure, is certainly a mystery. Erman & Son have been selling Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets for some time, and we know from actual experience right here in our own store just what Seaver's Famous Dyspepsia Tablets will do, and if you inquire of Erman & Son, the druggists, they will tell you they never knew a remedy to prove so decidedly beneficial in the treatment of indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation, sleeplessness and other forms of stomach trouble.

It certainly ought to give you confidence when you know that every 50c. box of Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets contains 20 days' treatment, and at the end of that time if you are not decidedly benefited all you need to do is to go back to the dealer and get your money. Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold right on their own merits. They cure indigestion simply by toning up the stomach and digestive organs so that the food will assimilate and give strength to the system just as nature intended. Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets are such a good nerve tonic, too. Just try a box and see if it don't give you new energy, new ambition and new courage to carry out your plans and daily work. If it doesn't your money back.

MISS FITCH

California Girl Who Shot Herself, Has Changed Her Mind and Wants To Live.

New York, Aug. 1.—"I have made a terrible mistake, doctor, and if I die I will cause grief to a few who are very dear to me. Life is a beautiful thing when you realize that you are loved. Now I want to live."

Miss Vera Fitch, the beautiful California girl, who tried to suicide in the Hotel Astor Monday night, has changed her view point today as the result of a visit made her by her mother, and made the above statement to Dr. Hughes today. The doctor encouraged her, although her chances of recovery are very slim. The doctors said, however, that the change in her mind would aid her greatly and that she may get well. Another mystery developed in the case last night when an unidentified man drove to the hospital. He asked what Miss Fitch's expenses would be for two weeks and when told $124 cent and departed. Relatives of Miss Fitch cannot imagine who he was.

NO DYSPEPSIA STOMACH GAS OR HEARTBURN

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy, or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach. Nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just as if your stomach was not there.

Relief in 5 minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach trouble.

Editor Advocate:—

Please permit us to say, through the columns of your valuable paper, a word in reply to articles against us and our business, that has on more than one occasion appeared in the American Tribune in reference to our selling fruits and vegetables to the citizens of this city and the arrests that have been made because we did not take out a license of $200 per year for each wagon we use and $50 per year for each man over one, that we use in our business. One of us use four wagons at times and three men over the one excepted would make the license for one of us $950 per year. Now we are citizens and pay all taxes rightfully assessed against us. We are not transient dealers that come in from another town and sell on the streets but most everything we sell is raised in this county and by us selling the fruits and vegetables to the people of this city, the farmers who raise them find a good market with us to dispose of their products. We never have objected to paying a fair and reasonable license that will enable us to live, but to pay the oppressive and exorbitant license that the city is demanding, we can't do it and make a living. We do not want to disobey any law but for some reason we are selected from among all to prosecute and the others dealing in the same products are not molested.

Heart and Home Talks

by Barbara Boyd

September starts a new year for many far more truly than does January. With some, it means the beginning of business life; with others, the start of some special study. With many, it is just taking up again the thread of work where they dropped it to go off on a holiday. But nevertheless, even with those, it is a fresh start. The year is anew for all, and whether it is faced eagerly because of the new experiences waiting, or looked forward to as the same monotonous grind it has always been, it is there for all to do with it as they will.

The story is told of Chase, the artist, that he keeps hanging in his studio, a large, untouched canvas, and that when people ask him what he considers his greatest picture, he points to this. His greatest picture is still unpainted. It is still ahead of him. He has never yet accomplished his ideal.

It is well to have a high ambition. It spurs effort. It keeps one up to his best.

The girl entering business should have an ambition in regard to her work. She should not go at it listlessly, simply to earn so much a week. Above, beyond, and more important than the salary, should be some ambition in regard to it. She should have an ambition to work her way up, or to learn all there is possible to know about one thing she is doing, or to do it so thoroughly that she is sure each night, no small detail has been neglected. She should be ambitious about it in some way, not only to get the most out of it, but to really enjoy it.

If the one who is returning to the same task he has performed for years, will put a spirit of ambition into his work, he will find the way to come more pleasurable and profitable than the one that has gone. The man or woman who does his or her work in a plodding, monotonous spirit, simply as a means of earning bread and butter, throws a gray pall over the most of his life. The work one does consumes the most of the time of the worker, and if there is no joy in it, dull indeed is that life.

The one who is looking forward to a year of some special study probably already has an ambition. It is this that has brought him to the edge of the year that now thrills him with delight as the fulfillment of some long desired wish.

An ambition puts zest into life; only, choosing an ambition, look ahead to see what its fulfillment means. Makes sure that its fruition will bring happiness. Every work offers subjects for worthy ambition. Choose wisely and not only enjoy your present tasks but lay up a happy fruitage for the years that are to come.

Steamed Ginger Pudding—Put one cupful of milk and three tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, and when boiling throw in quickly three-quarters of a cupful of flour, and stir until thick and smooth. Take from the fire heat for a moment, cover and set away until cool; then add one at a time five unbeaten eggs, mixing and beating each in thoroughly before adding the next. Add three ounces of preserved ginger, cut in small bits, and two tablespoonfuls of the syrup. Enter a pudding mold, dust it with sugar, pour in the mixture, and steam it for two hours.

Wine Sauce—Break an egg into a small saucepan, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of Madeira, and two tablespoonfuls of ginger syrup. Stand in a saucepan of boiling water at the side of the fire, and beat without ceasing until the mixture is thick and frothy. Must be served at once.

DIXON WILL FLY TO STATE HOUSE

Boston, Sept. 1.—Crownwell Dixon of Columbus, Ohio, is planning to make a dirigible flight from the aviation field to the state house today to invite Governor Draper to attend the Harvard aviation meet, which opens Saturday.

Graham White and A. V. Roe, English entrants, arrived here today. The Wright brothers announced that they will attempt to break Morane's new altitude record of 7054 feet.

The love of money that is the root of all evil is really the love of other people's.

No man thoroughly believes in himself unless he has full confidence in his digestion.

Some men are bent under a weight of fear, and others get stoop-shouldered from carrying their own self-conceit.

(New York World.)
The Rubber Trust headed by A. M. Rich's friend Colt reported on March 31 net profits of $5,255,000 and $2,000,000 added to surplus upon sales of $38,700,000. The new tariff had been operative not quite eight months.

These figures show a net profit on actual sales of 15 1/2 per cent. Disregarding entirely the fictitious capitalization of the monopoly, its profit on business done was more than handsome. In the competitive business of making leather shoes the net profit on total sales is believed to be seldom or never more than 5 per cent. It is usually less. The labor cost of shoes is from 22 1/2 to 27 1/2 per cent. The ample tariff is ten per cent. on the cheaper grades.

But the Rubber Trust was not satisfied with a net merchandise profit

GRAND JURY'S REPORT

After 27 days of service, the special grand jury called in session to investigate Newark's tragedy of July 8th submitted a final report Thursday noon. Including the 39 indictments returned on the 15th ult., the jurors reported 58 bills, 25 being first degree murder, 21 for rioting, 10 for assault and battery and two for perjury.

The jury examined over 500 witnesses and inquired into every detail of the trouble which culminated in the lynching of Carl Etherington, who was taken from jail and hanged by the mob.

The full report submitted to the court may be read in another column.

The grand jury has worked industriously and fearlessly, the prosecutor, Mr. Smythe, has been diligent and faithful, and the state's representative, Mr. Miller, has been an efficient counselor in the grand jury room.

Fifty-eight indictments have been found. Within a few days those who have been apprehended will plead and their cases will be assigned for trial. To finish the task, as it appears today, will require many months, possibly several years, before the last of the cases is finally disposed of in all the courts.

Licking county can and will give the indicted men a fair and impartial trial. No innocent man should be punished and no guilty should escape. With a desire to give justice to all and punishment for the guilty, Newark can and will hold up her head before the world and say that here the majesty of the law is supreme. Far better will she do it than many of her critics of other cities will give her credit for, which time will prove.

THE COLUMBUS REIGN OF TERROR.

(Ohio State Journal.)

Six weeks ago if a gang of toughs had stoned a street car in this city and escaped detection and conviction the whole community would have been aroused. Four weeks ago the thought of a police mutiny would have been dismissed as a bad dream. Now it takes a dynamiting or two or three of them in a night, to stir our people's deep indignation and strike terror to their hearts. Our government is anarchy and our name has become a byword and a hissing throughout the land. And we are becoming used to it!

It is idle now to say, although it is true, that these dreadful conditions never would have developed as they are if a big, strong, brave man, with a capacity for seeing his one paramount duty and doing it forthwith, had gripped the situation at the outset. It is too late for vain regrets for what has been. The present duty, shared by every decent citizen, is to rise up and demand that this reign of terror be ended.

This black-hearted criminal who handles the dynamite can be caught and sent to prison for life. These black-hearted criminals who handle him, if such there be, can be run down and punished to the limit of the law. Heaven knows that such a succession of devilish crimes against God and man cannot be perpetrated with such fiendish skill as to leave no clew to the guilty. The sentiment of this city ought to make itself felt in such a way that those in authority will not dare let these murderous wretches escape.

three times as great as competitive manufacturers find remunerative. Last March it was only getting its stride after Mr. Aldrich had jerked up its protection from 20 to 35 per cent. That month as Mr. Evans points out in the World's Work, it brought out the Revere Company—and raised prices of rubber boots 10 per cent. Later it took in the Canadian Consolidated—and again in May raised prices 14 per cent. Yet as all the world knows, crude rubber, the raw material, has lately fallen in price, owing to the collapse of the London boom.

The Rubber trust, like the Steel Trust, according to Mr. Carnegie, needs no protection whatever. In its report it congratulates its stockholders upon having largely increased its sales of rubber goods abroad without protection, but profitably.

By raising the rubber tariff—indeed, by not removing or greatly reducing it, as his party in effect had promised—Aldrich poured millions into the coffers of the sole customer of his own raw rubber company. A sensitive man, caught robbing the people so wantonly, would resign.

It Saved His Leg.

"All I thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swensen of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it, sound and well. It is fallible for skin eruptions, eczema, salt rheum, boils, fever sores, burns, scalds, cuts and piles." 25c at F. D. Hall's.

HONESTY IS NOT PARTY MATTER

Roosevelt Tells Kansas City Audience of Grafters.

SAYS REFORMERS OFTEN ERR

Duty of Citizens Is to War With Equal Sternness Against Corrupt Man of Great Wealth and Small Corruptionist, Says Former President.

Kansas City, Sept. 1.—There are certain matters which should never be treated as party matters, and foremost among these is the great and vital virtue of honesty. Honesty should be treated as a prime necessity to our success as a nation. The minute that a question of honesty is against dishonesty is involved then we must all act together as Americans without the slightest regard to party affiliations. Honesty is not a party matter, and the first man to attack a scoundrel of any party should be the honest men of that party.

When in office I always proceeded upon the theory that there would be no need of my opponents raising the cry of "Turn the rascals out!" because I would turn them out myself just as soon as by vigilant and intelligent industry I could discover them. The present Senator Bristow, for instance, was in the postoffice department when information reached me which convinced me that there was extensive rascality being practiced in the department. This information came to me through the then first assistant postmaster general, Mr. Wynne, an admirable man, whose honesty I knew to be beyond proof. The active work of the investigation was done by another postoffice official in whose honesty, courage and energy I had absolute confidence—the present Senator Bristow. When he got through I knew that all the rascals whose rascality could be detected were out of office and that all of them that had committed acts which we could proceed against as criminal were indicted or imprisoned.

Treated All Alike.

As we dealt with the crooked public official, so we dealt with the crooked private citizen; with the rich swindler in New York or Chicago as with the horse thief in Indian Territory. We never attacked a man because he was a man of one political faith or another, because he did or did not possess wealth, and we never shielded him because he was poor or rich, because he belonged to any particular church or to any particular party. But I also wish you especially to remember that we never hesitated to shield him and stand up for him once we were convinced that he was improperly attacked.

There is no greater foe of honesty than the man who for any reason, in any capacity, attacks or seeks to attack an honest man for a crime which he has not committed. Falsely accusing an honest man of dishonesty is an act which stands on the same level of infamy with that of the dishonest man himself, and it is no higher duty to attack the dishonest man than it is to exonerate the honest man falsely accused, and I should be ashamed to hesitate the fraction of a second longer in one case than in the other.

Remember that honesty cannot be unilateral. Good citizens should cordially distrust the man who can never see dishonesty excepting in men of the class he dislikes.

The reckless agitator who invariably singles out men of wealth as furnishing the only examples of dishonesty and the equally unscrupulous—but no more unscrupulous—reactionary who can see dishonesty only in a blackmailing politician or a crooked labor leader, both stand on the same plane of obnoxiousness.

Not All Are Dishonest.

You will never get honesty from politicians until you exact honesty from business men. On the other hand, you brand yourselves as fools or as hypocrites if you say that the corporation owner or the employer is always the dishonest man and the poor man never; that it is only the wealthy man who corrupts the politician and never the politician who blackmails the corporation.

Any man in his senses knows that there are plenty of corporations in this country that prosper by bribing legislators just as they prosper by swindling the public, and any man in his senses ought to know, in addition, that there are plenty of corrupt men of small means who in legislative or other bodies try to blackmail corporations and try to blackmail other people as well.

If they doubt this let them look at the revelations of corruption in my own state—New York—and in yours, my hearers—here in Missouri. Let them look at what has occurred in California and what has occurred in Illinois. In Illinois, for instance, one of the rascalities developed by the recent investigation was the existence of a combination of legislators who blackmailed fishermen along a certain river, forcing them to pay to prevent legislation which would have interfered with their business.

Evil Done by Honest Men.

Now, scoundrels who do this kind of things are, of course, the very men who on the one hand will blackmail a corporation if they get a chance and on the other hand will cheerfully, if the chance occurs, sell themselves to that corporation against the interests of the public. Their corruption is no more due to the action of the corporations than the corruption of the corporations is due to their action, and evil and not good, is done by the honest but misguided man who would persuade you that either fact is true.

Our duty is to war with equal sternness against the corrupt man of great wealth and the small man who makes a trade of corruption; our fight is against both the swindling corporation and the blackmailing or bribe taking politician.

We cannot afford to limit a campaign against corruption to those who happen to have a certain social status. We need laws which shall put the corporation out of business, so far as concerns corrupting the servants of the public and betraying the rights of the public.

I believe that the great issue now before the people is the doing away with special privilege in all its forms, doing away with the power of the big corporation to control legislation in its interests and to interfere in politics in order to secure privileges to which it is not entitled. But I regard the essential factor in this campaign as being an aroused civic conscience which will unsparingly condemn dishonesty in every form and in every man, high or low.

Reformers Sometimes Wrong.
The reckless, would be reformer who, in speaking or writing, seeks to persuade us that we need pay heed to corruption only when it shows itself in the rich man is doing as great a moral wrong as the rich man whose low moral standard tends to lower the moral standard of the whole community.

The people of this country will get justice from the corporations only if they both do justice to them and rigidly exact it from them. Unless they do justice to rich men they put a premium upon injustice and dishonesty among rich men. Let us hold them to the strictest accountability for any wrongdoing, but let us insist upon honesty in our own ranks no less than theirs. Let us war on crookedness of every kind in the man of small means as well as the man of large means. Let us judge each man by his conduct and not by his social or financial condition.

The Maid of Saragossa.

In July, 1808, the French were pressing hard upon Saragossa. The hardest fighting was at the Portillo gate, where the assaulting batteries more than once reached the dilapidated earth works. The gunners of the Spanish battery were shot down one after another, the survivors falling before they could discharge the last loaded gun. The infantry flinched, and the French were closing in when a young woman, Angustina Baragoza, betrothed to a young artillery sergeant who had just fallen, rushed in, snatched the lighted match from her dying lover's hand and fired the undischarged twenty-four pounder into the head of the advancing column. The enemy was shaken. The citizens, shamed, rushed forward, reoccupied the battery, and the assault was beaten off. The girl received from the government a commission as sublieutenant of the artillery and a life pension. A few years later she was seen by an English traveler serving with her battery in Andalusia. She was a handsome young woman of the lower class. She wore a blue artillery tunic, on the sleeve of which was a shield of honor.

The Robber Crab.

In Central America there lives the robber crab, of almost incredible size and somewhat resembling a huge spider. The distance between its extended claws is sometimes as great as twelve feet. It spends the greater part of its life on land and climbs the coconut trees, on the fruit of which it lives almost entirely. It digs in the ground deep tunnels and lines them with coconut fiber. When enraged the robber crab can break a man's limb with its powerful claws. Animals approaching it too closely often receive an ugly pinch which they do not soon forget, and it is on record that one of these crabs has captured and tried to drag off a goat. To open a coconut the robber crab removes the bark from the end containing the three eyes, one only of which is easily penetrated, and, having found this, it revolves the nut against the point of one of its spindly legs until the opening is large enough for it to insert its great claw. With this it breaks the shell, grinds the contents into small pieces and carries them to its mouth.

Blind Like Fiction Only.

A New York woman who is interested in home missionary work thought it would be a good idea to place some religious literature in the various institutions for the blind, provided some one in charge would read it to them. She accordingly visited one such asylum and made the suggestion to the matron. She was received graciously, and the matron said they would be glad to have the literature placed in the library, but that the blind did not care for any kind of serious reading.

"We do read to them, of course," she explained, "but they want only fiction. They do not care for anything else. If we try to read to them books of any other character it is time wasted, for they do not give any attention. No, I do not know why their taste runs to fiction, but probably because it makes the stronger appeal to their imagination."—New York Press.

MITCHELL CONCERT AT THE AUDITORIUM FRIDAY EVENING

Over a decade ago, almost the entire United States was charmed by the melodious voice of Blanche Mitchell, a Chicago lad of about 10 years, who sang in the principal cities of America, especially throughout the east. His voice was a marvel of pure soprano and under careful training his technique was brought to a high degree of perfection. Other boy sopranos, both before and since his time, have delighted large audiences, but he probably never possessed the voice of little Bryon Mitchell, the 11-year-old son of Thomas W. Mitchell of this city.

The lad gave evidence when almost a mere babe of a deep seated musical intuition, and when a little past two years of age surprised and delighted his parents with an almost perfect intonation of the chromatic scale as hummed by his mother. This intonation included trills, cadenzas and difficult phrasings as the mother sang to the elder son, Gordon, whom she often accompanied on the piano. In this atmosphere the child was reared and could not but absorb in his naturally pianist musical nature most of the ideas of harmony, rhythm and tempo.

As soon as he was old enough to articulate he was taught the simple tunes and tunes of childhood, which he mastered so easily that it was not long before he was given more elaborate and difficult numbers. In acquisition of these he manifested precocity. Soon afterwards he was placed in the hands of careful and capable instructors, who with sedulous and watchful training brought out his voice in its present perfection. The purity of the tonal quality is absolute and the correctness of relative pitch, remarkable in range and power, makes him one of the most noted sopranos in the United States.

Recently the little fellow, attended by his mother and his accompanist, Mrs. Carl Ashton, went to New York, where Byron sang in historic Trinity chapel, as well as in Grace Episcopal church. At Grace church Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and others gave him more than a flattering reception, and it was more than a veritable triumph for the little fellow. Before he left the metropolis his mother agreed upon a contract with the vestry of the church to make him one of the soloists of the choir. His remuneration will be $1000, with perquisites, which will include a scholarship given by the church to school of Grace church. Among the latter may be mentioned the scholarship at Yale University when he arrives at the proper age, free tuition under the oldest teachers in New York, instruction in the ordinary branches of knowledge and freedom to take any outside contracts in solo work which does not interfere with his singing in the choir of the church.

This child's voice, while it is rich in melody, pure in tone correct as to pitch and resonance, is not the most remarkable characteristic of his musical equipment. His comprehension of every number (which he memorizes under his mother's teaching) is truly wonderful. He is endowed by the very spirit of music, with a clear insight into the most complex meaning of every song he sings, not only of the words themselves, but also of the various shadings of the composition.

He is a beautiful boy, with healthy coloring and with none of the eccentricities and idiosyncrasies that might be expected in one so young of such undoubted genius. His expression of face and voice seems to necessarily accompany every mood of the expression. It may be well said of this expression that it has a with-

TO OUR MILK CUSTOMERS

The undersigned company wishes to make the following announcement to its customers and the public in general:

It has been our custom for the past several years to raise the price of our milk from six cents a quart to seven cents on the first of October. This year the time for the raise in price has been advanced one month and it will take effect the first day of September, 1910. The primary cause for this change is the extreme scarcity of milk at this time; due to the large demand for the product, prevailing high price of feed, etc., and the damage done to pasture by the drought.

We respectfully call your attention to the above change.

PLACED IN CAVE WITH BIG SNAKES

Denver, Sept. 1.—That her husband had imprisoned her in a cave, in which there were two huge snakes from which she barely escaped with her life, and that later she attempted to be her hands and feet and place her on a red-hot stove, was the testimony given by Mrs. Fannie S. Wood in her suit for divorce from Chester L. Wood. She secured her decree.

Wood became insane several months ago and when officers came to take him in charge he took refuge in a cavern built with water, where for several hours he put up a desperate fight, finally being overpowered after he had received severe injuries.

The Woods were married at Marysville, Mo., in 1898.

McFARLAND WILL COMPLY WITH HIS MOTHER'S REQUEST

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Pacley McFarland's mother says "No" so the light weight will not go to Australia. This was the word received by Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter who a short time ago signed Pacley, fully backed by Bronson and Matty Baldwin for the Australian trip.

Today McIntosh, who has just returned from Vancouver where he went to make arrangements for the sailing of the party on September 10, declared that although he had Pacley's signature, he would not enforce his rights in deference to the wishes of Pacley's mother.

Mrs. McFarland told the promoter that her health had been bad and through working over her son's future and that she did not want him to make the trip. She said she had always been opposed to his fighting and wanted him to leave the ring. McIntosh will endeavor to get Pacley to join him today on his way to the place.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Great Scheme of Mr. Mouse

"DADDY," said Evelyn as the children cuddled down in his lap all ready for the evening story, "I saw puss today catch a big mouse. Can't you tell us a story of a mouse?"

"I'll try, dearie," replied daddy, "although I have never had many chances to study them, they keep so out of sight. Let me think a bit. Well, once upon a time there lived under the floors of a house a whole lot of mice—hundreds of them—and they were very fat and happy until the owner one day bought six traps and ten cats, and then their troubles began. A dozen of them were caught and drowned, while many were captured by the pussies, and at last they held a big meeting to see what could be done. The oldest and biggest mouse present did most of the talking. When the meeting opened he told everybody to keep quiet, and then he said:

"Ladies, gentlemen and little squeakers, we have lived in this house many years and have always treated the owner like a friend. We have gnawed holes in his walls to give him more air. We have eaten his cheese so that he himself would not overeat it and die of dyspepsia. We have kept his cross old cook so busy that she has not had time to quarrel with the other servants."

"Yes, and think of the fun he's had running after us," remarked another.

"Very true, Bill," replied the speaker. "We have certainly treated him royally, and now just see the meanness of the man. On every side of us are cruel traps and bloodthirsty cats."

"What are we going to do about it?" the others asked.

"I was just coming to that," he said. "We must show the ungrateful fellow that, even if we are small, we can have revenge. Oh, I've got a great scheme, my friends, and you'll all wonder how even I could have thought of it. Now gather around me a little closer and listen. Tomorrow so many of you will enter the traps that they will be broken and useless thereafter. Then forty or fifty of you will let the cats catch you, with the result that they will die from overeating. Won't that be a great revenge? Isn't that a fine scheme?"

"Humph!" squeaked all the other mice in tones of disgust. "It's very fine for you, who'll lie safe in your hole, but do you suppose for a moment that we care to die and never again eat good old cheese? Why, you must be crazy!"

"The old mouse said they did not know a good scheme when they heard one and retired to a corner in a huff, but just then a big cat bounded in and grabbed him, while all the others got safely away. Then they moved to a new house, where there were no cats or traps, and all lived to a ripe old age."

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

From the statements of a number of employees of the B. & O. Railroad company in this city the railroad is quietly circulating a petition among its employees, the object of which is to request the Interstate Commerce Commission to put the new freight rates into effect November 1, as at first intended.

The men were not offered copies of the paper, nor were any copies of it secured in this city. On the contrary it was passed among them by an out-of-town agent who told them the substance of it and secured their immediate signature. No one refused, so far as known. This story is told by some half a dozen different employees of the B. & O. in this city.—Zanesville Courier.

Conductors Dismissed.

Several conductors employed by a western railroad company have been dismissed for returning unpunched tickets to the train agent, with whom the profits from repeated sales were divided. With such certainty is that sort of fraud detected that those who practice it show a singular blindness and disregard of self-interest, to say nothing about the eighth commandment.

KREAGER REUNION A SUCCESS

The Kreager family and their friends, to the number of about three hundred, met at the home of Aunt Sally Kreager, four miles north of Brownsville, in Hopewell township, Licking county, Wednesday, August 17, in a reunion and a few reminiscences of the family might not be out of place.

At the time of the Revolutionary war there lived in the state of Maryland a young man of German descent by the name of Jacob Kreager, who enlisted in the patriot army, and served with credit to himself and family. After the war was over he returned to his home where he remained until 1810, when with his family, some of whom were now grown up, he emigrated to Ohio, settling one mile south of where the village of Granville now stands, and in the borders of Muskingum county, where he spent the remainder of his days, living to a ripe old age. His family, which was large, married and settled, some in Muskingum, some in Licking, Perry, Tuscarawas, Montgomery, and other counties, while others pushed on to the then far west, and made a home in Indiana.

Those who attended this reunion were of the Muskingum Licking and Perry counties branches, some of whom have spread out even to the Pacific coast. The family has been noted for intelligence, industry and enterprise, as well as for sturdy manhood and more than ordinary physical force.

Different members of the family have served their country in the war of 1812, and later wars. At the present time there are but a very few living of the third generation from this old hero of 1776, but a host of those of later date. At this time Jacob Kreager's posterity may be found in all walks of life, from the sturdy sons of toil to the learned professions and to those occupying positions of honor and trust in their country.

The following address on "The American Home," was delivered by Rev. F. S. Kreager:

The civilization of the Twentieth century is the product of the three divinely ordained institutions, the home, the church and the state.

The state is the institution of civil rights, and it is the function of the state to protect her citizens in the enjoyment of their inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and to punish them in the violation of the principles of equity and justice. The basic element of the state is the will of the people, therefore the will of the people must be taken into account in all government.

The church is the institution of divine worship, and its function is to preach the gospel of the kingdom to all the world in obedience to the command of Christ. The church differs from the home and the state in that it is a voluntary institution.

But the home is the institution of the affections and is the unit of human society. The family is the foundation of all society whatsoever. Destroy the sacredness and purity of the home, and you destroy the fundamental principle of our social life, but on the other hand preserve the home in all its sacredness and you preserve our social structure, because the more than 15,000,000 homes in our country are so many streams of influence pouring themselves out into the great current of our moral, our social and our political life. If the home life is pure then all is pure, but if the home life is corrupt all will be corrupt, for the home is the center of everything, and from the proper or improper settlement of the home problem depends more of prosperity, adversity, joy or sorrow, weal or woe, than all other things combined. Upon being asked what he considered the greatest need of France, Napoleon said "Mothers." Now while we do not need mothers in our American life to produce a nation of warriors according to the Napoleonic idea, yet we do need mothers to do as the Apostle Paul has said, "train their children up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." Upon his return to his native land and educated Japanese said: "The greatest wonder of America is not her colleges and higher institutions of learning and culture, but the greatest wonder of America is the American Christian home."

So, my friends, I feel that it is impossible for me to over-emphasize the influence and importance, the sacredness and significance of this divine institution without which it would be impossible for us to have our Twentieth century civilization.

We have already said that the home is the unit of society and we hasten to say that the welfare of all society whatsoever depends upon the home, and the sacredness in which it is held. The welfare of the church and the state and the world at large depends upon the purity and sacredness in which the home is held. The home either blesses or curses human society. It either uplifts or pulls down. It is either a blessing or a curse to the community, the city, the state and the nation. Well has Dr. Wesley said: "He who passes out from under the healthy training of the home into the baser circle of citizenship has a foundation already laid for all social sympathy, for the conception of human brotherhood, for the exercise of good will in every form. It is the condition of and preparation for all law. It was meant according to the primal plan that the mind should be disciplined in the family for a life of law and love, which should lead the soul up to the great Lawgiver of the Universe and love which should embrace the brotherhood of man. We are praying in the American church to the Lord of the Harvest that he will raise up more laborers to go forth and work in his vineyard, but we better be praying for more Christian homes, and for more parents who will consecrate their children to the Lord from their earliest infancy. If there were more Hannahs in the American church there would be more Samuels to hear the call of God and say "Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth."

We are deploring the signs of anarchy and lawlessness in our American life, but we little think that every child who is not subject to the authority of the home is passing through the first stages of anarchy. When anarchy attained its end on the 5th of September, 1914, at the Pan-American Exposition, the authorities turned everywhere in order that they might find the lurking place of this serpent, but the hiding place of anarchy was not found in Paterson, N. J., nor in Cleveland, O., nor in Chicago, Ill., nor in the anarchistic teachings of a certain Miss Goldman, but its hiding place was found in the early home training of the assassin Tolstoy, who shot death into the vitals of one of the highest and noblest products of an American Christian home.

According to the primary meaning of the word the home is a place of isolation and seclusion. It is the place where its inmates are shut away from the outside world into a little fold of their own where dangers dare not enter. Oh what a beautiful image of home life is found in this definition. When one enters this sacred spot at the close of the day it should be to enjoy the benefits of the home according to its primary purpose. All anxiety and care should be shut out, all burdens laid down and rest of body, mind and heart secured. Certainly he who does this shall have his strength renewed and mount up on wings as eagles. Now, since you cannot foster seclusion, and since you cannot secure such rest of body and mind in a boarding house, it follows that the boarding house must be counted an enemy of the home. It is only when the affections are nourished by the seclusion and refuge of a place that we can have the ideal home, according to the primary idea of the term. This is illustrated by the fact that every room in the house, every spot in the yard, every fence, every tree in the old orchard from which you have plucked the fruit as a barefoot boy or girl are surrounded by the tenderest memories and the most sacred associations of your life.

This institution is the institution of the affection. It is as the word family indicates a place of familiarity, but it is not the familiarity that breeds contempt, but it is the familiarity of confidence and the familiarity of faith. It is the place where we cast off all the coldness and the suspicion which we carry with us in the world, and give expression to the deepest feeling of our hearts. It is the place where we pour out the pent-up annoyances of our lives. It is as Robertson of Brighton has said, "The spot where expressions of tenderness gust out without any sensations of awkwardness and without any fear of ridicule."

Now when we consider the importance and the influence of this institution as it arises out of the necessity of our nature, we are not surprised that men in the activity of life long so much for the rest of home. "I am going home," shouts the sailor, as he is homeward bound over a rough sea. "I am going home," shouts the shopman, as he locks the door and bars the window of his shop after a hard day's work. "I am going home," cries the collegian, as he rushes out of the classroom across the college campus at the close of his last examination. "And," says the Christian, as he goes down into the dark valley of the shadows of death, "I am going to my Eternal home." For as Eden was the archetype of home so Heaven is the antitype for we are assured by the Apostle Paul that if the earthly home of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have an home, a dwelling of God, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens and Jesus Christ has said that in the Father's house are many mansions. Heaven, then, is the home of the soul.

The home is a school for the development of Christian character, for the unfolding of manhood and womanhood. It not only has the material elements in character building but it should also have the spiritual elements. It has been noted that man, the very crown of God's creative genius and power is born the most unfulfilled life aside from man reaches its full development in a short period of time. But it is not so with man. He is born a long way from his final development his physical manhood takes thirty years to prepare him for the battle of life. It requires three score years and ten, the time allotted, to develop a few of the faculties with which he has been created. Now then, in order to help man in his struggle to develop character here and immortality hereafter, God has instituted the Christian home, and the home should not only have the material elements but it should also have the spiritual element for character building. Payson puts our responsibility in the following language, "What if God should place in your hand a diamond upon which you were to write a sentence as an index of your thoughts which would be read either for or against you at the Judgment seat of Christ. What care, what anxiety you would exercise in writing that sentence. Now that is exactly what God has done in giving you your children your influence on them for good or evil will be read either for or against you at the Judgment. And the greatest of the senatorial Trio has said "if we work upon marble it will persist. If we work upon brass time will efface it. If we rear temples into the air, the will crumble into dust. But if we work upon immortal minds, if we imbue them with noble principles, with the just fear of God and fellowman, we do a work which will last throughout all Eternity."

Moreover, the influence of the home has the seal of divine sanction set upon it by our Lord Jesus Christ himself. Thrice only did He call down the power of Heaven to raise the dead, and in each instance it was the only member of the family of that particular sex living, an only son, an only daughter, an only brother. The first example is that of an only son, as Jesus came near to the gate of a city called Nain. He saw them carrying a dead man out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow. "And when the Lord saw her he had compassion on her and said unto her 'Weep not.' Then they stood still and Jesus touched the bier and said: 'Young man I say unto thee, arise, and he that was dead sat up and began to speak and he delivered him to his mother. The second instance was that of an only daughter, the ruler of a synagogue came falling at the Master's feet and besought Him to come into the house for he had one only daughter, about twelve years of age and she lay a dying, but as he went to the house, he was interrupted and the little girl died. The message was brought that the little girl was dead. Jesus went to the house and in company with Peter, James, and John, the mother and father, went into the room. They were weeping, but Jesus said 'Weep not, she is not dead, but sleepeth.' And they laughed Him to scorn for she was dead. Then he put them all out of the room and took her by the hand and said 'Maid, arise,' and her spirit returned and he commanded them to give her meat. The third instance is that of an only brother, Lazarus, the brother of Mary and Martha, in whose home Jesus loved so much to be. As Jesus stood by the grave of Lazarus, where Mary and Martha were weeping for their only brother, he was moved to compassion and wept. How sympathetic, how human life was and then He cried with a loud voice, 'Lazarus, come forth.' Now, since Jesus Christ was so deeply moved by these scenes of sorrow in these three homes, the death of loved ones, does it not set the seal of His sanction on the home or family as the most sacred institution of society.

Men are bound together by various ties in our social life, but none are so sacred as the home ties. Men are bound together by the ties of friendship, therefore the friendship of David and Jonathan, in which the soul of Jonathan was knit to the soul of David and he loved him as his own soul, therefore the friendship of Damon and Pythias out of which has grown the fraternal order, therefore the friendship of Paul, the Apostle, and Timothy, his spiritual son; therefore the friendship of Calvin and Cop, Luther and Malanthon of the reformation period; therefore the friendship of Artair Rathbun and Lord Tennyson, but before the onslaught of home ties the ties of friendship snap asunder like cobwebs. Men are bound together by political affiliation, but these are not so sacred as home ties. This is illustrated by the factions of both of our leading parties at the present time. Men are bound together by the ties of patriotism, but out on the field of battle their thoughts will turn to the memory of mother and home and loved ones. A story is told of a soldier boy who was found dead on the field of battle clasping in his hand the picture of his friend and loved ones at home. Now this story shows us that behind the bullet was the powder, behind the powder the old musket, behind the musket the man, but behind the man was his love for his friends, for his home, and his native land, and his courage was invincible in the hour of battle because of his love for home and native land. Men are bound together by the ties of philanthropy, and will cross the seas to preach the gospel and yet they will return to their native land to visit the scenes of their childhood, before receiving their final summons. Oh you may say what you will, but the primary affection of the human heart is the affection for the home and for the family. In the art gallery at the World's Fair was a picture entitled "Breaking Home Ties." There was always a crowd standing around this picture. It seemed to be the most popular picture in all the great gallery of art. There stood the mother fare to face with her son, her hands on his shoulder giving him up to go out and fight the battle of life or away to college, or into business as the case might be. There stood the boy face to face with his mother, pressing a kiss to her lips, saying his last "good-by" to go and do what was considered best. By his side sat the old dog, and even the old dog seemed to realize that his young master was leaving home. Yonder through the door goes the father with the young man's valise, he cannot stand the scene and is trying to escape. Off in the corner sits the sister weeping. Oh we call this breaking home ties, and it is. It is breaking away from the tenderest memories that surround us in this life. Although Talmage is dead yet I imagine that I can see him say in his characteristic way "Oh if you would gather up all the tender memories, all the lights and shades of the human heart and had but one word with which to spell out that height and depth that length and breadth, you would with streaming eyes and agitated hands, spell it out in those four living capitals, H-O-M-E." Then let church walls crumble, but cherish the home, let state lines be obliterated but maintain the home; let the marshal tread of armed host give way to the patting of little feet let the mandates of authority give way to father's half expressed wish; let pulpit oratory, and thundered organ beat give way to mother's own sweet lullaby and man's highest destiny may yet be reached.

It certainly isn't the absence of raw material that keeps a man from making a fool of himself.

It looks as though the promoters might organize a society for the amelioration of the rich come-ons.

Even when he reaches the top of the ladder a man may not be above suspicion.

ORPHEUM THEATER OPENING

The closed season for vaudeville, which means the period of darkness that has clouded the doors of the Orpheum theatre since early in June,

O. G. MURRAY.
New Lessee of the Orpheum.

is to come to an abrupt close next Monday, when the first of the season's vaudeville will be shown. As usual, this cozy little play house has always opened on Labor Day, and this year will be no exception. The news of the Orpheum opening is being received with hearty welcome in all sections, and no doubt crowded houses will be the rule next Monday. The house is receiving a burnishing up and these are busy days at the Orpheum, the work of getting ready for the start being no light task. Scenic artists have been at work preparing some new scenery to greet the eyes of the new season patrons, improvements have been made in the stage mechanism that will permit the playing of the bigger and more complicated vaudeville acts, some retouching is being given to the front of the house, and cleaners are at work giving rinal rubs to furniture, brass and carpets, so that the opening on Monday next will find the interior of the Orpheum shining like a brand new house. But chief of all is the work that is being done and has been done in Springfield, where master hands at the art of booking have been busy all summer preparing the shows that are to be presented. The unalloyed success that has greeted the Orpheum since its first season in Newark has prompted the management to take the utmost care in booking shows for Sun & Murray. They figure that a city that rallies to the support of approved vaudeville in the way Newark does is entitled to the very best the vaudeville markets afford. The bookings for the coming season at the Orpheum will be handled through the same channels as before, the Sun Booking Exchange in Springfield, the institution through which over 300 theatres are booked, and at the head of which is Mr. Sun himself.

All through the summer the work of booking shows for the entire circuit, which now extends from Illinois through to New York, and as far south as Virginia, has been in progress by experts employed for that purpose, one being Roy Leason, who personally looks out for Sun & Murray's own theatres. To his skill in the arranging or well diversified bills the local management has added the aid of dictating the kind of material that Newark enjoys.

Vaudeville promoters have done a great deal in the way of replenishing the market with new and up-to-date material for the coming season, and all of this new material is for appearance at the Orpheum at some time during the season. For the greater part, all acts to be shown in Newark will be new to this city, although by special effort on the part of the management, some of the previous season's favorites will come in for return dates.

The old familiar faces will be seen again at the theatre in the managerial staff. George M. Fenberg, who has been in charge of the Orpheum since last February, came back Monday prepared to open the house and remain as its manager throughout the season. Mrs. Harry Cranston, the popular pianist, has renewed her contract with the house, and after a summer spent with friends in the west, will be in the pit Monday next. Harry Cranston will resume his position as stage manager, Carl Lipincott will again be doorman, and electrician and Miss Ollie Breese will sell tickets.

The sale of tickets, which will be at the same rate as before, will begin at the Orpheum box office on Saturday, at which time seats for Labor Day can be had. Patrons telephoning over the independent telephone will receive courteous attention. The management has announced one change in the ticket ordering system for the coming season. All tickets ordered over the telephone will be held until 2:15 in the afternoon and 7:30 at night for the first show and 9 o'clock for the second show, the hours for the evening shows being changed to 7:45 and 9:15. All tickets ordered by telephone will be held as per hours stated above and then, if not called for, will be put back in the rack and sold. This is somewhat earlier than last year, but owing to the growing popularity of the telephone system, the change was necessary.

For the opening bill next week we are to have one of last season's favorites, but in a new act, Jules Held, who is well remembered for his school girl act. This season Mr. Held is under the personal direction of Gus Sun and will offer his eight boys and girls in a big musical comedy in one act, "Summertime." Special scenery, new costumes and effects are carried. E. Warren Hatch & Co. will present an original comedy playlet, "Miss Cupid." Miller and Mooney, eccentric

Don't Break Down. Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause break-downs. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters, the matchless tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c. at F. D. Hall's.

GRANVILLE

Granville, Sept. 1.—In times past there have been a number of "mad dog" scares in Granville, scares that so often partake of the nature of panic and terror that they are as a rule without reason or sense. While there is a wild gap between the views of those who are disposed to think that hydrophobia is so extremely rare as to be wholly a negligible factor and those ignorant persons who are convinced with fright at the slightest contact with a dog's teeth, there is a happy medium of common sense that should govern. It is safe to say that rabies is the rarest of diseases, and there is medical authority—negative, it is true, but none the less impressive—for the statement that the testimony that connects some cases of hydrophobia in man with the bites of dogs is almost wholly absent. At all events the "mad dog" scare is, in 999 cases out of a thousand, purely the creation of ignorance and increasing cruelty. Savage dogs there are. Of course, but in the large majority of cases—if the truth were told—the persons bitten are the ones to blame.

Granville lovers of fried chicken will be glad to learn that there is a good chance in the near future of obtaining this seasonable delicacy at reasonable prices which are not prohibitive. There is a large crop of chickens all over the state as well as in Indiana, Illinois and Michigan and the price is breaking. For the past two years chickens have been unusually high, but this season all will soon be advanced according to reports from eastern and nearby markets.

Miss Ruth McKinley of this place, who has been visiting relatives and friends in New York for some time, has returned home.

Mrs. Warner is having her house, corner of McHenry and Elm streets, overhauled and repaired. A new porch is being built on the north side of the house and the shrubbery has all been removed. When the work is all completed the house will present a greatly improved appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Williams of Lansing, Mich., who have been visiting relatives and friends in Granville and vicinity during the past week, left Thursday morning for Springfield, O., where they will make a short visit with their daughter, Mrs. H. C. Woods, before returning home.

Professor Clements has moved into the house he recently purchased from Mrs. Seales.

Miss Mary Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ferguson, left Thursday for Joliet, Ill., where she has accepted a position in the Joliet High school in the Latin department. Miss Ferguson is a graduate of Denison of the class of 1906.

Quite a number of Granville people will patronize the excursion run by the T. and O. C. railroad company to Mackinac Island next Tuesday. The excursionists will go by water from Toledo and everything has been provided to make the trip a most enjoyable one.

Dorothy, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richards of College street, while running on the sidewalk several days ago, fell and broke her left arm just below the elbow. About six weeks ago she broke the same arm just above the wrist, and had just had the splints removed from it. Dr. Follett attended to the injury, and at this writing the little one is getting along nicely.

Miss Lillian Thomas of Canton, O., who has been visiting here for a few days, returned home on Wednesday.

Granville lovers of the succulent bivalve can now satisfy their craving for the luxury. It is the last letter of September, and according to epicureans oysters will be fit for eating now. They are on sale the greater part of the year, but those who profess to know say that they should not be eaten in any month, excepting those that have an r in their spelling.

Mr. Lowe of West Virginia, has moved to Granville for the purpose of educating his children.

Ralph Bradley, telephone manager, has moved into the Oatman property, on Summit street.

O. C. Jones is having a fine cement walk laid in front of Jones & Van Voorhis' hardware store. It is an improvement that adds greatly to the property.

Miss Penny has moved in the Wilson property on Broadway.

Otto Read has moved to Springfield, where he has accepted a fine position.

Mrs. Cora Pratt Heistand of Washington, D. C., will spend a week with the Ashbrook and Pratt relatives in Licking county. Colonel Heistand was on the staff of Governor McKinley and was also on his staff while McKinley was president.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Deason of Gallatin, O., who have been visiting relatives and friends in the village for the past several days, returned home Thursday morning after having had a very pleasant visit.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bolin spent last week in Dayton, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Ballinger.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Howard R. Williams of the Newark Y. M. C. A. has been called to the position of physical director of the association at Painesville, O. The Painesville "Y" is one of the oldest in the state and leads them all when it comes to cities of that size. They own a good building that has recently been improved and furnished with 13 dormitories which are all rented and men clamoring for more. Howard Williams has been training for the work of physical education for three years past through the gymnasium of the Newark Y. M. C. A. and also by summer courses at the Lake Geneva school for the training of men in this line. He has many friends in his home city who will watch his career with much interest and who will wish for him great success and usefulness.

Mr. Harry Tinnen reached home today from the Summer School of Y. M. C. A. workers at Silver Bay, New York. This is his second season of study there and he reports a fine time as well as a stiff course of training. His work has been along the line of the physical department of Y. M. C. A. work. It is not generally known that the Y. M. C. A. physical department with nearly three hundred thousand enrolled in gymnastics classes is the largest physical culture organization in the country and it is growing every year.

Pittsburg Exposition.

One of the features of the Pittsburg Exposition, which opened August 31st, is the South American exhibit of the Chamber of Commerce. The Pittsburg business men's body is displaying several hundred new views of the growing agricultural, industrial and commercial scenes in Latin America, together with large maps and charts showing the trade of the twenty Central and South American republics. The purpose of this exhibit is to show Pittsburg manufacturers the great development which is taking place in the comparatively unknown countries to the south of the United States, and to interest Pittsburg business men in making more aggressive efforts for Central and South American trade. The Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce will follow up this exhibit by an active campaign this fall for trade extension with South America. An interesting feature of the Chamber of Commerce exhibit is the relief map of the Panama Canal, which shows in detail the various locks and dams, fortifications and harbor improvements, as they will appear when the Panama Canal is opened in 1915. A model of one of the new steamships between the United States and South America is also on exhibition. This is the first exhibit which has ever been made in Pittsburg of South America.

Other features of the Exposition are an agricultural exhibit by one of the big railroads, a full size section of a coal mine, and the Pittsburg postoffice exhibit. The musical attractions include the usual high-grade musical organizations of the country.

JOHN S. JONES OF GRANVILLE LOSES HIS SUIT

In the suit brought by John S. Jones of Granville and Chicago, who had associated with him some Columbus men, against Joseph Ramsey Jr., George J. Gould and others composing the Little Kanawha Syndicate, for money expended in the purchase of about 17,000 acres of coal lands in Morgan, Perry and Washington counties, Ohio, the decision has been announced against Mr. Jones and his associates. Local men interested say that the coal lands, possession of which is still held, are far more valuable than any judgment that could have been obtained. A telegram received here yesterday from St. Louis says:

"Franklin Ferris, referee, appointed by the circuit court, recommended the dismissal of the action of John S. Jones of Chicago against Joseph Ramsey Jr., George J. Gould and others, composing the Little Kanawha syndicate, asking the appointment of a receiver and seeking $500,000 damages. The suit has been pending for five years and grew out of plans to purchase coal lands and railroad properties in West Virginia and Ohio."

Jones claimed the fees of $28,000 each to Ramsey, Gould and W. F. Guy of St. Louis were excessive. He claimed also to have bought 17,000 acres of coal land under a verbal agreement with Ramsey, which was not carried up to the state court would reimburse him for the outlay and pay him a commission for his services.

ELECTROCUTION

Of Wm. Swan Will Occur Tonight, as Governor Has Decided Not To Interfere.

Columbus, Sept. 1.—Everything is in readiness for the electrocution of William T. Swan, colored, shortly after midnight tonight. Preparations were made yesterday after word was received from Governor Harmon that he had decided not to interfere. Swan was told his fare by Warden Jones at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and, though he did not collapse, he exhibited considerable nervousness.

He has always maintained his innocence since received at the penitentiary. His conviction was secured on circumstantial evidence and he hoped that his sentence would be commuted to life by the governor on that account.

Swan was convicted with Della McKinley, colored, who is now serving a life sentence as an accomplice, for the murder December 23, of her infant daughter and her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Jackson, mother of Jacob Jackson, who lives at 903 Engler street, Columbus.

With the McKinley woman, whose husband William McKinley, is now connected with the Maple hotel at Chillicothe, Swan had been carousing in a room on the third floor of the home in which Mrs. Jackson lived, between 2 and 3, in the morning of December 23, they descended to the second floor, where Mrs. Jackson was caring for the one-year-old child, and committed the crime, attempting to hide it by setting fire to the house. The murder was discovered, however, before they could escape, and they were arrested.

Mrs. Jackson was 102 years old. The McKinley family had been living with her for several years. The McKinley woman acted as a nurse. The motive of the crime was the desire of Swan and Mrs. McKinley to get money with which to elope.

In asserting his innocence, Swan has declared the woman could free him if she would. The two were brought together Tuesday, but the woman refused to speak the magic word. Swan some years ago served a term in the Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary.
